In conferences with the Head of the Foreign Service Institute, [redacted] the Office of Training is determining the extent of the capability of Foreign Service Institute to meet area and area-language requirements of the Agency. It has been ascertained that much of the short-term area and area-language requirements can be met by FSI or elsewhere in Washington through SAIS or the local Universities. Planning and arrangements are proceeding in order that Agency participation in such programs may begin in September.

3. The Management Training Division of OTR reports that during fiscal 1953 some 378 supervisors in the various offices of the Agency have participated in the basic supervisory training programs. The three problem areas which have required attention by all levels of management have been, (1) coordination; (2) intra-office communication and (3) personal management. From this sampling of almost one-third of the supervisors in the Agency it is the estimate of the Chief, Management Division that improvement in supervision can come only if stronger support is given at the Assistant Director level especially with reference to the coordination of policy, plans and operations.

4. As of 10 July 1953, 418 CIA personnel are enrolled in TRG courses, and 256 in external training courses, making a total of 674 in courses sponsored by the Office of Training (General).

1. The Director of Training has requested the Executive Secretary in the CIA Career Service Board to include on the agenda of the next Board Meeting the subject of rotation loan slots. At present 40 of these slots were allotted to various components of the Agency. In order to accommodate the various offices, and in view of the vacancies which temporarily exist in the Junior Officer Trainee allotment of slots in the Office of Training, the Director of Training has encumbered JOT slots with personnel from other offices in order that they might profit in established Agency training programs.

With the increased effectiveness of the JOT recruiting program these slots are now needed by the Office of Training for their original purpose. Accordingly, the Director of Training has proposed that the Career Service Board devise measures to make more effective use of rotation loan slots for training and other career purposes. The proposal is to allot slots for career development purposes on the recommendation by the DTR for approved long-range training programs. During the period of training the career employee will encumber a slot held by the Career Service Board thus releasing his slot in his own office.

2. The trainees of the 10th Basic Intelligence Course were invited to participate in a briefing given by G-2. Major General H. C. Partridge, Assistant Chief of Staff G-2, conducted a portion of this presentation setting forth briefly the mission and purposes of G-2 and the contribution it makes in the field of collection and the production of military estimates. Other senior officers of G-2 participated in the briefing emphasizing various aspects of intelligence production carried on by G-2 throughout the world.

3. During the week Dr. Allan Evans, Director of the Office of Intelligence Research, Department of State conducted a presentation for the trainees in the Basic Intelligence Course dealing with the problems and scope of intelligence production engaged in by the various Bureaus and Divisions of the Department of State.

special course is designed to meet the needs of reserve officers with intelligence background so that they may be kept well informed on the latest developments in the intelligence community. The Office of Training has arranged to give eight lectures in fairly highly specialized fields of intelligence. The offices participating in this effort are: OTR, OHR, OSI, OCT and OMR.

5. The Director of Naval Intelligence has requested that the Director of Central Intelligence supply a speaker for a two hour lecture on the "Mission, Scope and Responsibilities of the Central Intelligence Agency". TNO Weekly Summary Report

1. Preliminary evaluation of the data obtained from the offices of the Agency for budgetary purposes revealed the following:

a. Approximately 8 to 10% of all Agency personnel are scheduled for training in one or more of the programs established by the Office of Training for the year 1954.

b. About 55% of the training requirements submitted are for DD/I personnel, 28% for DD/P including Communications personnel (external training only) and 17% for DD/A personnel.

c. The principle of area language training has been generally accepted throughout the Agency. Training requirements have been stated for 34 different languages, 89% desiring basic and advanced reading competence and 11% for basic or advanced speaking competence.

d. The requirements for Management and Administrative training are greater than expected, they are indicative of a general consciousness of need for training in this field. It is noted that the various offices have not confined their requirements to currently existing programs but have requested the establishment of new programs to meet their requirements.

2. During the week exploratory conversations were held with the Management Consultant firm of [redacted] with a view toward determining their capabilities to provide short-term training programs in the Executive Management Field for Agency personnel. Such courses tailor-made to meet Agency needs would employ the seminar and case study method, similar to that used by the Harvard School of Business in its six month management course. It is believed that a wider range of courses of shorter duration than the Harvard course could be presented by the training facilities of [redacted] at less cost and with wider participation of Agency personnel than is now possible by the limited use the Office of Training is able to make of the Harvard Program. The Harvard Program would continue to be used of course, reserved for very high level Agency personnel on the limited basis of two persons per class.

3. Further indication of the growing emphasis placed by the offices of the Agency on regional and area programs is reflected in the request that 15 Agency employees be permitted to participate in the part-time Central Asia Program, which will begin 29 June at Georgetown University. This program will run for twelve months and will meet six hours a week.

4. Over 80 Agency employees have placed requests with the Office of Training to attend a lecture on "Mathematical Theory of Games", given by [] on 19 June in the CIA Orientation room 117 Central Building. While this program was originally developed at the request of OSI it appears to have Agency wide interest.

5. As of 19 June 1953, 325 CIA personnel are enrolled in TRO courses, and 155 in external training courses, making a total of 480 in courses sponsored by the Office of Training (General).

TRW Weekly Summary Report

1. In reply to a letter sent by the DCI to Mr. Harold E. Stassen, Director for Mutual Security to speak at the next Orientation Program (August 4 through 7), Mr. Stassen indicated his willingness to be present for the first day. The subject suggested to Mr. Stassen is "U. S. Problems In The World Today". Mr. Stassen stated that the subject was completely satisfactory to him and he would be present at 9:30 on the morning of August 4th in the Department of Agriculture auditorium where the CIA program will be conducted.

2. The Rockefeller Foundation Program for the Development of Foreign Affairs Personnel, planned to be given in September 1953 at Harvard University, must be postponed until September 1954. State Department personnel were to comprise the nucleus of the student body, with five CIA participants and five personnel from the Foreign Information Program and NSA supplementing State personnel. The State Department has indicated, however, that while it has considerable interest in the program, it finds it impossible to release ten of its professional people because of personnel cuts. The sponsors of the program are reluctant to proceed without the support of the Department of State.

3. A non-technical lecture on the Mathematical Theory of Games with Potential Application to Intelligence Problems will be given by Col. Raymond of the Research and Development Command of Baltimore on 19 June to selected representatives of CIA. This program was developed at the request of DCI.

4. A representative of the Office of Training requested C-2 to conduct a briefing on Military Intelligence for selected students from CIA Basic Intelligence Course. A reply dated 10 June to the Director of Training from [redacted] stated that in accordance with General Partridge's policy, C-2 would expand its orientation schedule to include those subjects of greatest interest and benefit to personnel of CIA. The C-2 presentation will take place on 12 June and will include such subjects as the Military Attache System, C-2 Publications, C-2 Document Library, the Organization of C-2 and C-2 Intelligence Production Activities.

5. A representative of C-2, Army, Language Training Services, Army, and Information and Education, Army Field Forces, six persons in all, visited the Language Training Division on Wednesday, 10 June, and spent two hours examining the installation, discussing the training materials (including the dual-track mobile unit), and other pertinent matters.

1. During the week, the Chief of the Programs Division audited six seminars of the Advance Management Program of the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration. His report stressed the high quality of the program and has urged in the choice of future candidates, that the Agency's Selection Panel review carefully the qualifications of those desiring to attend this course.

2. The Staffs and Divisions of the DD/P have requested that the Office of Training arrange for approximately 100 representatives to attend the International Relations Seminars conducted by Foreign Service Officers in the State Department's Foreign Service Institute. Since the Agency is permitted to send only two persons per seminar and since the offices of the DD/T have also requested 400 or more be permitted to attend, this response far exceeds the quota the State Department has given to the Agency.

3. Lt. Gen. Charles F. MEMORANDUM FOR: Colonel Baird

SUBJECT : National Security Lecture Series

REFERENCE : Paragraph 1 of the Weekly Progress Report

1. Item No. 1 of this week's progress report is a restrained paragraph based on four lines in Steve's report. This is admittedly a needle thrust and propaganda of not too subtle nature. The Foreign Service Institute is now doing a program not unlike the one we tried to sell the DDI and DDP last September on our National Security Lecture series. Clyde made nine telephone calls about this program and to date we have received 151 names.

2. I have had time to look over only the names proposed for the first two weeks of the series and have selected arbitrarily two persons per seminar for the lectures on the basis of my knowledge of the importance of the work being done by those I selected. These persons have been informed of the time and place. Additional telephone calls have come from those not chosen, informing us that their supervisors urge that provision be made by the Office of Training to include them. For the most part those selected to date are from the DDI offices.

3. This is good evidence and is turning out to be quite a survey of Agency interest as well as Agency need for this type of seminar. You may remember [] did not choose to permit the Assistant Directors under him to see or even have a chance to comment on our original prospectus on the National Security Lecture series. If a proper survey had been made, we as an Office might have had a better opportunity to serve the Agency in a fairly important field.

4. I recommend that we review this proposed series, perhaps shorten it some, bring it up to date, change the name, and submit it this time to the Training Liaison Officers to disseminate widely within their respective offices.

TR(O) Weekly Summary Report

1. The need in the Agency for a series of presentations dealing with national security problems has again been demonstrated to the Office of Training. The Foreign Service Institute has offered to the Agency two positions in its current and future Advanced International Relations seminars conducted for Foreign Service Officers of Class 1 and 3 by ambassador, minister, and assistant secretary level speakers. Agency participation in this first series has been set up on a flexible basis to permit two persons per seminar to attend those presentations relating to their present assignments. Response has been far in excess of the quota which the Department of State can handle.

2. Current planning in the Foreign Service Institute, in cooperation with the Office of Training, now makes it possible to increase the number of language and area programs to include Japan beginning 1 July, China tentatively scheduled for October, and South Asia by January of 1954. These are two-year programs, the second year of which will be spent at over-seas installations. The Office of Training is presently ascertaining requirements for Agency participation.

3. Career and security briefing was provided by DD/P personnel for four of the five trainees entering the OTR-FSI two-year language and area program on the Near East. This group will spend one year in the United States and the second year at the FSI installation in the Near East.

4. Training Bulletin No. 3, Remarks of the Vice President of the United States at the Ninth Orientation Course, is in process of reproduction for distribution in the Agency and for DD/P dissemination to the field. Bulletin No. 4 on General Smith's remarks and No. 5 on those of Mr. Allen Dulles will be ready for dissemination next week.

5. The Language Services Division of OTR can now plan and organize in the Agency Russian language training. Through arrangements with FDD/CO an experienced linguist has been made available to the Office of Training for this work.

6. As of 13 March 1953, 418 CIA personnel are enrolled in TR(O) courses and 267 in external training, making a total of 685 in courses sponsored by the Office of Training (General).

He emphasized, among other things, the value of this program and discussed in some detail the curriculum, facilities, problems, and the high caliber of the faculty.

3. The Director of Training has been advised by representatives of the DDA that the regulation on Basic Intelligence Training has received the concurrence of the DDI but the DDP does not concur since he wishes to retain the right to determine what personnel of the DDP complex will take the Basic Intelligence Course and objects to the automatic entry of new personnel into the course. The regulation is presently being revised to meet the objections of the DDP but will not change in any way those portions of the regulation applicable to the DDI.

4. New intensive language classes sponsored by the Air Force at Georgetown University Institute of Languages and Linguistics were announced in a recent memorandum on the Spring Language Program. These languages include: Iraqi-Arabic, Hindi, Urdu, Finnish and Swedish. To date no interest has been shown by any Office in the Agency in these programs.

TRG Weekly Summary Report

1. The Director of Training proposed to the CIA Career Service Board that it review and approve a statement of training policies related to the Agency's Career Service Program in order that the function of training might be exercised more directly as an integral part of the career service in the Agency. The policies were concerned with: individual qualifications requisite to training, and selection of individuals by the DCI upon recommendation of the CIA Career Service Board for training in the development of high-level executive, policy, and planning skills. For all other types of training, either inside the Agency or at external facilities, selection will be made by the Director of Training.

The statement was approved by the Career Service Board with the following modifications: (1) policies to be limited to training at non-CIA facilities, (2) training to be provided normally, but not exclusively, to career employees, (3) requests for training, including the Department of Defense schools and colleges, must have the endorsement of the Office Head or Staff Chief in order to be considered by the Director of Training, and (4) Utilization of personnel within the Agency upon completion of training to be determined prior to training.

2. At the request of the PM Staff a program of on-the-desk training has been established for specially qualified and assessed Junior Officer Trainees over an approximately one-year period. The course has been carefully outlined by the PM Staff and will include extensive selected readings, indoctrination in the activities of each division, screening of current intelligence publications and cables, debriefings of personnel, and assigned projects. All activities will be directly supervised by an officer assigned to this task.

The Chief of the Programs Division was sent to Harvard during the week for the purpose of obtaining two definite slots for Agency candidates. Dr. Harvey P.
